1. Purposes

Consortia for Education and Research (COFER)

SUDAC¹ promotes the establishment of frameworks of cooperation in education and research including different types of academic institutions (Universities/ETH, UAS, UTE) around themes related to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the Agenda 2030.

In this framework, COFER will lead to synergies and stronger integration of research, education, and implementation by building upon the different strengths and experiences of the involved institutions through new collaborative networks that will emerge in the North and in the South².

COFER will act as a “research and education incubator”: its members will develop proposals together with their Southern counterparts and apply for relevant tenders in their field of competence. Through the unique mix of competences included in them COFER will promote the development of projects meant to include innovation in terms of research with diffusion, education and implementation.

Particular attention will be given to the use of advanced technologies such as ICT in furthering both cooperation and implementation. Distant learning instruments such as MOOCs will be one possible type of output to be expected of COFER.

Thus, COFER will contribute to the overall goal of SUDAC aiming at an expansion of forward looking knowledge, be it thematically, methodologically or geographically and to further improve Switzerland's international position in research and education. Thereby Swiss priorities must be matched with interests from South partners.

They follow the vision of providing a comparative advantage to its members through the combination of approaches, institutional cultures and their embeddedness in the network of SUDAC.

Proposals need to include the following information:

1. Novelty and innovation	Through its unique mix of competences, each COFER will bring new ideas, insights and perspectives. This novelty will have to be highlighted. The innovation of the COFER has to be understood in terms of research and education on global issues, including as well diffusion and implementation.
2. Partnership	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Pre-existing collaboration will be an asset. • The role and competence of each partner have to be precisely described as well as how the collaboration between all partners will be organized. 5. Expected outcomes and sustainability	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Description of the expected outcomes and performances in education and research. The COFER has to work as incubator. • This issue has to be considered at two different levels: a national one, meaning the outcomes for the Swiss institutions and an international one for the institutions from the Global South. • The sustainability of the consortia after 2020 will have to be pursued as general objective of SUDAC.
6. Methodology	Description of the chosen methodology, the main work packages and milestones

5. Evaluation

Formal eligibility

The coordination team (Head of project, Deputy, Coordinator) will check the formal eligibility of the proposals.

Evaluation

The evaluation will be conducted along the 6 evaluation criteria, which all have the same weight.

Each proposal will be evaluated by at least two experts. The evaluation will be conducted along to the following themes:

- One expert will be in charge of assessing the educational and research aspects ;
- Another expert will be in charge of assessing the relevance of the COFER for development and cooperation.

Relevant federal offices (e.g. SDC) will be offered the possibility to participate in this evaluation.

Decision

Based on the recommendations of the experts, the SUDAC Assembly will take the final decision.

In case of equal ranking of proposals by the experts, a third expertise will be required and the SUDAC Assembly will apply the following three soft criteria (by order of priority): disciplinary repartition, geographic repartition in the South, institutional repartition in Switzerland.
